2.0 TERMS OF ENGAGEMENT

VALUATION SUMMARY
ADDRESSEE	Dubai Islamic Bank PO Box 1080 United Arab Emirates To be relied upon by Dubai Islamic Bank for Mortgage Security purposes only.
STANDARDS	This Valuation Report has been prepared in accordance with the Emirates Book Valuation Standards (EBVS) and Royal Institution of Chartered Surveyors (RICS) Valuation Global Standards (31 January 2025). The RICS Valuation Global Standards 2025 is fully compliant with the International Valuation Standards (IVS).
BASIS OF VALUATION	The Valuation has been prepared in accordance with the definition of Market Value adopted by the International Valuation Standards Committee (IVSC) and endorsed by the RICS, as set out below: "The estimated amount for which an asset or liability should exchange on the valuation date between a willing buyer and a willing seller in an arm's length transaction, after proper marketing and where the parties had each acted knowledgeably, prudently and without compulsion." The basis of Market Value reflects the highest and best use, as set out below: "The highest and best use is the use of an asset that maximises its potential and that is possible, legally permissible and financially feasible. The highest and best use may be for continuation of an asset's existing use or for some alternative use. This is determined by the use that a market participant would have in mind for the asset when formulating the price that it would be willing to bid." A full definition of Market Value is provided in Appendix 3.
INDEPENDENCE & OBJECTIVITY	We confirm that neither the Valuer nor COLLIERS have any pecuniary interest, giving rise to a conflict of interest in valuing the property. This report represents our independent and objective opinion.
DISCLOSURE	The signatories to this Valuation Report confirm that they do not have an existing relationship with the Applicant and have not previously valued the subject property. The total aggregated fees, including the fee for this Valuation Report earned by Colliers within our MENA offices, represent less than 5.0% of our total revenues.
KNOWLEDGE & SKILLS OF VALUER	We confirm that we have sufficient local and national knowledge of the property markets involved and have the skills and understanding to undertake valuations competently.

ASSUMPTIONS	For the purpose of this Valuation Report, COLLIERS has adopted a number of assumptions. It is considered reasonable to accept an Assumption as a fact in the context of the valuation assignment without specific investigation or verification. They are matters that, once stated, are to be accepted in understanding the valuation or other advice provided. The definition of Assumption (as defined in the RICS and IVCS), is provided below: 'A supposition taken to be true. It involves facts, conditions or situations affecting the subject of, or approach to, a valuation that, by agreement, do not need to be verified by the valuer as part of the valuation process. Typically, an assumption is made where specific investigation by the valuer is not required in order to prove that something is true.' In undertaking our valuation, we have made various assumptions, as detailed within this Valuation Report and stated under Appendix 2.
SPECIAL ASSUMPTIONS	For the purpose of this Valuation Report, COLLIERS has not adopted any Special Assumptions. The definition of Special Assumption (as defined in the RICS and IVCS), is provided below: 'An assumption that either assumes facts that differ from the actual facts existing at the valuation date or that would not be made by a typical market participant in a transaction on the valuation date.'
OTHER MATTERS if any	None

3.0 EXTENT OF DUE DILIGENCE

3.1 INSPECTION

The subject property was inspected on 26 August 2026. The property inspection was non-intrusive and limited to accessible visible areas.

3.2 INFORMATION PROVIDED

We have been provided with the following information to carry out the valuation of the subject property:

- Title Deed
- Developer's Floor Plan

3.3 PROPERTY AREAS

In accordance with the information provided, we understand that the property comprises the following areas:

ITEM	AREA	SOURCE
BUILT-UP AREA (BUA)	48.20 sqm (519 sqft)	Title Deed

4.3 CONDITION

At the time of inspection, the property appeared to have been completed to the developer's standard specifications and was generally found to be in good and serviceable condition relative to its age and maintenance. For the purpose of this valuation, we have assumed that any unseen areas are in a similar condition to those that were observed. Should this assumption prove incorrect, we reserve the right to amend our report.

4.4 TENANCY

The subject property is currently tenanted.

4.5 REINSTATEMENT COST

The property comprises a single unit forming a part of a larger structure and hence it is not possible to provide such a quotation. We assume the building is fully insured against fire and the usual perils.

5.0 MARKET COMMENTARY

APARTMENT MARKET COMMENTARY

SUPPLY

New apartment deliveries exceeded the 10,000-unit threshold for the second consecutive month, signalling a sustained acceleration in handovers. Villa completions gained momentum during Q1 2026, with approximately 1,900 villas delivered over the period. This marks a notable volume in supply across both typologies, reflecting the progression of previously launched projects toward completion.

Looking ahead, the development pipeline remains substantial. An additional 65,000 apartments and 12,500 villas are currently scheduled for delivery by year-end, although some degree of slippage into subsequent periods is anticipated, in line with historical delivery patterns.

New project launches moderated compared to previous quarters; however, activity remained robust, with several high-profile announcements reinforcing continued developer confidence. Notable announcements included Sobha Sanctuary (20,000 units), Aldar Palm Jebel Ali Residences (14,000 units) and DIFC Zabeel District (6.4 million sqft office space), highlighting ongoing expansion across both established and emerging submarkets.

Although residential and hospitality developments continue to dominate the launch landscape, there has been a discernible increase in office project announcements. This trend reflects renewed confidence in the commercial real estate sector, underpinned by sustained occupier demand for high-quality Grade A office space and limited recent supply additions.

The current wave of private-sector development is being complemented by significant public-sector investment in infrastructure, transport networks and integrated retail and leisure offerings. In fact, the 2026 Dubai Budget has allocated 48% of total expenditure toward infrastructure including the Dubai Metro Blue Line extension and the ongoing expansion of Al Maktoum International Airport.

While construction activity is expected to remain elevated in the near term, emerging regional and global uncertainties, particularly relating to supply chain constraints, may result in slowdowns and ultimately delays. In response, a number of developers have accelerated delivery timelines to mitigate the risks associated with prolonged disruption.

RENTAL RATES

The Dubai rental market demonstrated a robust overall performance in Q1 2026, with quarter-on-quarter (Q-o-Q) metrics maintaining a generally positive trajectory. Average apartment rents saw marginal growth of 2%, a trend largely underpinned by sustained demand within the affordable housing segment. While average villa rates remained stable throughout the quarter, the market continued to exhibit a more nuanced performance at a community and property level. High-specification upgraded units and the ultra-luxury sector continued to attract interest; however, standard units experienced a shift in dynamics. Notably, transaction volumes and premium price points for larger unit types moderated, as heightened affordability considerations led tenants to adopt a more cautious and value-driven approach.

Regarding transaction volumes, the market entered a period of adjustment. While the first two months of the year saw strong momentum maintained, which demonstrated the market's inherent vitality, it was notable that these volumes represented a gradual moderation from the record-breaking highs of 2025. Moving into March, new lease registrations of villas and apartments saw a significant contraction on both an annual and monthly basis. This measured approach to new commitments is likely to be the result of the market navigating the uncertainty created by regional tension by adopting a 'wait-and-see' mentality, rather than an underlying shift in demand. Lease renewals were also lower in March, which we believe is a function of tenants and landlords prioritising flexibility over long-term commitments, through the adoption of short-term contracts and lease extensions (which fall outside standard annual registration metrics) and the transition of tenants into home ownership, which should be seen as positive for the broader market and economy.

The table below illustrates current rental rates in selected areas of Dubai.

SALES PRICES

The Dubai residential and commercial sales market maintained its growth trajectory throughout Q1 2026, though the period was characterised by a notable shift in sector-specific demand. Off-plan transaction volumes remained intrinsically linked to the frequency of project launches and subsequent registration timelines. A key observation during the quarter was the divergence between asset classes; while off-plan apartment sales volumes moderated, off-plan villa transactions saw a marked increase. This aligns with a strategic focus by developers to address the persistent undersupply in the villa segment through the introduction of new master planned communities, as well as additional phases within existing and emerging developments.

Activity for completed units, across both apartments and villas, witnessed a quarterly decline, with the pace of contraction accelerating through March. It is premature to definitively attribute this to a reduction in demand resulting from regional tension, rather, it was more likely influenced by a combination of limited secondary stock availability and a heightened buyer preference for off-plan products, which generally offer a more accessible entry point, requiring significantly less upfront capital while featuring attractive developer incentives, such as reduced down payments and flexible payment structures.

Despite community-level variances, average sales prices sustained an upward trend across all monitored asset classes and segments, including both off-plan and secondary markets. While these increases were marginal for the residential sector, office sales demonstrated standout growth. This performance was underpinned by a shortage of completed commercial units and a limited, though gradually increasing, pipeline of new launches featuring Grade A specifications.

It is important to acknowledge that the recent disruptions in market activity have not yet been fully captured in official sources of headline pricing or volume. However, our direct market engagement with developers indicates a more proactive approach to securing transactions. This includes the strategic deployment of incentives and discounts to maintain momentum. As the market enters the next quarter, the effectiveness of these tactical measures in supporting prices and transaction volumes will be a key indicator for investors and developers alike.

Looking ahead, this transition represents a healthy normalisation following a period of unprecedented expansion. While external factors have accelerated this adjustment, Dubai's core fundamentals remain strong, bolstered by ongoing infrastructure investment and a proactive regulatory environment. Backed by strategic government initiatives and a proven track record of agility, the Emirate remains uniquely positioned to absorb short-term volatility and maintain its long-term appeal as a premier global destination.

6.0 VALUATION METHODOLOGY

6.1 COMPARABLE METHOD OF VALUATION

We have undertaken the valuation on a Comparison approach. The Comparison method is a standard valuation approach for properties of this type and is recommended by the Royal Institution of Chartered Surveyors. The information used in our valuation is obtained from our observations of the market conditions and any transactional evidence relating to similar properties, where available.

The Comparison approach involves examining and analyzing market transaction/data and making adjustments to this data to account for differences in location, views/potential views, layout, date of sale, aspect and other individual characteristics.

6.2 VALUATION COMMENTARY

As regional geopolitical tensions ease, market dynamics within the subject development are transitioning from a cautious, 'risk-off' environment to a more stable, post-conflict phase characterized by returning investor confidence and firmer pricing. Transaction volumes, which had remained subdued with limited absorption at pre-conflict levels, are beginning to find a firmer baseline as short-term downward pressure on capital values consolidates into clearer pricing. We assess the realistic market range for similar properties to be between AED 700,000 and AED 825,000. Considering the gradual normalization of the market, alongside the subject property's specific physical attributes, overall condition, and micro-location factors, it is our professional opinion that the property would realistically achieve a transaction level in the order of AED 725,000 under current market conditions.

Please see below a list of transactions of comparable properties that we have relied on to arrive at our opinion of Market Value of the subject property.

7.0 OPINION OF MARKET VALUE

7.1 MARKET VALUE

Having carefully considered the matter, we are of the opinion that the Market Value of the International Freehold interest in the subject property identified, assuming vacant possession as at 26 August 2026, is fairly represented in the sum:

MARKET VALUE
AED 725,000
Seven Hundred and Twenty-Five Thousand UAE Dirhams

The above value is provided gross of any land transfer charges, legal costs, or sales fees.

These costs are subject to negotiation and Municipality transfer costs are subject to change without public consultation. Sales fees and land transfer costs may either be shared between the vendor and purchaser or are payable by single party. The party responsible for payment is often determined by the relative negotiation strength of the parties involved.

VALUER	CO-SIGNATORY
Jobby Zacharia (B.Tech, PGDipSurveying) Director – Valuation and Advisory RERA Registered Valuer (No. 41735)	Arshdeep Singh MRICS Commercial Valuer RERA Registered Valuer (No. 43783) RICS Registered Valuer (No. 6822092)

This valuation report has been prepared by the valuer for and on behalf of Colliers.

The valuer confirms they have the requisite local knowledge, skills to competently undertake the valuation.

The counter-signatory verifies that the report is genuine and authorised by Colliers.

The Valuation has been prepared in accordance with the definition of Market Value adopted by the International Valuation Standards Committee (IVSC) and endorsed by the RICS, as set out below:

"The estimated amount for which an asset or liability should exchange on the valuation date between a willing buyer and a willing seller in an arm's length transaction, after proper marketing and where the parties had each acted knowledgeably, prudently and without compulsion"

The basis of Market Value reflects the highest and best use, as set out below:

> "The highest and best use is the use of an asset that maximises its potential and that is possible, legally permissible and financially feasible. The highest and best use may be for continuation of an asset's existing use or for some alternative use. This is determined by the use that a market participant would have in mind for the asset when formulating the price that it would be willing to bid."

A full definition of Market Value is provided in Appendix 3.

7.2 SPECIAL NOTE

Recent regional events have contributed to increased uncertainty within financial and real estate markets, influencing investor sentiment, logistics and wider economic conditions. In this environment, market conditions may change more rapidly than usual and certain historical market evidence may therefore be less reliable than under normal circumstances.

Accordingly, this valuation is reported on the basis of material valuation uncertainty in accordance with the requirements of the RICS Red Book Global (VPS 3 and VPGA 10). This does not mean that the valuation cannot be relied upon; rather, it reflects that a higher degree of caution should be applied than would normally be the case.

While some sectors may continue to be supported by domestic demand, sectors more reliant on international investment, trade or travel may be more sensitive to prevailing market conditions. In addition, broader economic indicators, including commodity prices and capital market activity, may remain subject to short-term volatility.

The valuation reflects the market circumstances and information available as at the valuation date only. Given the evolving nature of current conditions, we recommend that the valuation be kept under regular review.

In accordance with VPS 3, we have drawn attention to matters giving rise to material valuation uncertainty and, in line with VPGA 10, this statement is included to ensure transparency regarding the current level of market uncertainty.

8.0 DISCLAIMER

This report has been prepared on the basis that there has been a full disclosure of all relevant information and facts that may affect the valuation.

This report is provided exclusively for the stated purpose and for the use of the party to whom it is addressed. It is confidential information for the exclusive use of the Client and may not be disclosed to any other third party without Colliers prior written consent. Reproduction of all or any part thereof in any document, circular or statement is strictly prohibited, except with prior written approval from Colliers. In the event of a breach of condition, Colliers shall not be held responsible for any liabilities, claims and damages raised by a third party, arising out of such a breach.

APPENDIX 1 – TERMS & CONDITIONS

The "Client" means the person, company, firm or other legal entity named in the Engagement. Colliers will not accept instructions to act for any other legal entity, nor will these terms apply, unless Colliers has agreed in writing to act for such alternative entity. Colliers reserves the right to refuse to act for an alternative entity.

Asteco Property Management LLC, Commercial Licence No. 218551, trading as Colliers

"Services" means the specific services set out in the Engagement and any other services which Colliers agree in writing to provide.

1. Application

In the interest of the parties to have a full understanding of the terms of reference and the Services to be provided, the following document sets out Colliers' Standard Terms of Engagement for the provision of Services. Colliers would be pleased to arrange the provision of extended and/or additional services upon request.

When Colliers is required to undertake additional work outside the agreed scope of the Services, additional charges will be agreed in writing prior to commencement of any additional work.

These Standard Terms of Engagement form integral part of the Engagement. Any variations to these Standard Terms of Engagement are only valid if agreed in writing by the parties.

2. Appointment

The Client appoints Colliers to provide the Services set out in the Engagement exercising reasonable skill and care.

3. Professional Indemnity Insurance

Colliers holds professional indemnity insurance in respect of the Service to be provided.

4. Identification and Status of the Valuer

The valuation instruction will be undertaken by a suitably qualified and experienced member of the Colliers Valuation & Advisory team, who Colliers confirms is in a position to provide an objective and unbiased opinion of value, acting in the capacity of an external valuer in compliance with the requirements of independence and objectivity under RICS Standards.

Colliers also confirms that Colliers has no conflict of interest in acting on the Client's behalf in this matter.

Colliers confirms that the valuer stated above have sufficient current local and international knowledge of the asset type and its particular market, and the skills, expertise and understanding necessary to undertake the valuation assignment competently, within the requirements as to member qualification as set out in the RICS Standards.

5. Identification of Client and Limitation of Liability

The valuation instruction conducted, and valuation report provided will be produced solely for the use of and confidential to the Client for the specific purpose to which it refers. Unless provided otherwise by law or regulation, Colliers does not accept responsibility and have no liability to any third party for the whole or any part of its contents (even if a third party pays all or part of the professional fees to Colliers or is permitted to see the report).

The Client agrees not to bring any claim or demand for any losses against any shareholder, owner, director, manager, employee, consultant or valuer of Colliers personally (each a "Colliers Person").

Colliers is not liable: (a) for any services outside the scope of the Services which Colliers has not agreed to perform; (b) to any third party (unless expressly agreed in writing); (c) in respect of any consequential, indirect, punitive, exemplary losses or damages, loss of goodwill, loss of opportunity, loss of status/reputation or loss of contract or loss of profits.

In the unlikely event where Colliers is jointly found liable with another person/party for any loss to the Client, the loss recoverable by the Client from Colliers is limited to a just and equitable proportion of Colliers' relative contribution to the overall fault and loss. Colliers' liability does not increase because of a shortfall in recovery from any other party, whether that shortfall arises from an agreement between the Client and the other party, the difficulty in enforcement or any other cause.

Colliers is not liable for any loss, injury, damage or legal or other expenses sustained as a result of: (a) Colliers having reasonably relied upon the Client or any third party to provide accurately all relevant information; or (b) any act, omission or insolvency of any person other than Colliers; or (c) injury to persons or property arising out of the condition of the property or any hazard in or about the property; or (d) any business decisions and any consequences arising from such decisions that the Client may take based on the valuation report.

Colliers total aggregate liability for any loss and/or damage under contract, tort, negligence or otherwise relating to an Engagement under these Terms of Engagement will in no event exceed the fees collected by Colliers under these Terms of Engagement for an Engagement which has given rise to liability.

The Client indemnifies Colliers and Colliers Persons and holds them harmless against all costs, claims, charges and expenses which they incur by reason of, but not limited to: (a) use of any of Colliers work for purposes other than those agreed by Colliers; and (b) misrepresentation to third parties of the extent of Colliers involvement in any particular project: (c) use by Colliers of material provided by the Client to Colliers and the intellectual property rights in this report of which is vested in a third party.

No third party will be entitled to rely on the Engagement, Colliers' report or advice except as agreed in writing by Colliers, even if that third party paid all or part of the Colliers fees for the valuation or is permitted to see the report. If Colliers does provide written consent to a third party relying on the valuation report, such third party is deemed to have accepted the terms of Engagement and any liability caps included in this report and it is the Client's sole obligation to inform the third party of this obligation.

6. Purpose of Valuation

Colliers understands that the opinion of 'fair / market value' of the interest in the Subject Property is required for a purpose agreed between the Client and Colliers and as set out in the Engagement. Colliers' consent is given for use of the valuation report solely for such agreed purpose and in accordance with the terms of this Engagement.

7. Identification of Subject Property and Interest to be Valued

The subject of the valuation is the interest in the Subject Property as identified in the engagement.

8. Basis of Value

Colliers' valuation will be provided based on Market Value, as defined by the RICS Standards.

For the purpose of this valuation instruction and the valuation report to be provided, the appropriate definition is as follows:

"The estimated amount for which an asset or liability should exchange on the valuation date between a willing buyer and a willing seller in an arm's length transaction, after proper marketing and where the parties had each acted knowledgeably, prudently and without compulsion."

9. Valuation Date

The valuation date will be the date of inspection, unless otherwise agreed with Colliers.

10. Extent of Investigation

For the purpose of clarity, Colliers is formally instructed by the Client to provide a full inspection / desktop valuation for the Subject Properties or If full accesses are not permitted, we may need to inspect the property on an external "drive-by" basis. This will therefore constitute a valuation conducted on the basis of restricted information. The accuracy of the opinion of value provided under such restricted circumstances may then vary from an opinion of value otherwise determined on the basis of a full property inspection. This will accordingly be referred to within our report. An opinion value presented on this basis will have consequential potential prohibitive implications for publication or disclosure to third party if explicitly permitted under this Engagement, full reference to which will be made within our report.

11. Nature and Source of the Information to be Relied Upon

Any information or related documents provided by the Client, or their representatives, will be presumed to be correct (including but not limited to documents translated from another language into English). Colliers bears no responsibility should it later transpire that incorrect information has been supplied.

Unless the Client informs Colliers in writing to the contrary, Colliers is not required to check or approve the accuracy of information provided to Colliers by the Client, the Client's representative or third parties. The Client hereby warrants the accuracy of all information provided to Colliers by the Client or on the Client's behalf on the basis that the Client expects Colliers to rely upon it.

Any estimates of fees and disbursements are provided based on the information the Client provides to Colliers. Such estimates are not binding upon Colliers if the information provided is in any way incomplete, misleading or incorrect

The Client indemnifies and holds Colliers harmless against all costs, claims, charges and expenses of whatever nature which may arise as a result of or in connection with any such information proving to be inaccurate (whether wholly or in part) or incomplete.

In order to ensure the reports are as accurate as possible, Colliers requires certain information regarding the properties. Please note the following information must be provided prior to valuation commencement, and be delivered in English:

- Copy of the planning permissions applicable to each Subject Property.
- Copy of the affection / ownership plan for each Subject Property.

12. Assumptions and Special Assumptions

Colliers makes certain assumptions in relation to facts, conditions or situations affecting the subject of, or approach to, our valuations that Colliers will not verify as part of the valuation process but treat them as a 'supposition taken to be true'. In the event these assumptions prove to be incorrect then the valuations will need to be reviewed.

Note that a special assumption is an assumption that either assumes facts that differ from the actual facts existing at the valuation date or that would not be made by a typical market participant in a transaction on the valuation date. The special assumption adopted, and the implications of such on value will be fully documented in the valuation report.

12.1 Condition and Repair

Unless specifically instructed to carry out a separate building survey, or commission a test of service installations, the valuation will assume that:

- except for any defects specifically noted in our report, the Subject Property is in good condition;
- no construction materials have been used that are deleterious, or likely to give rise to structural defects;
- no hazardous materials are present;
- all relevant statutory requirements relating to use or construction have been complied with; and
- any services, together with any associated computer hardware and software, are fully operational and free from impending breakdown or malfunction.

Colliers will, however, reflect the general condition noted during the valuation inspection and any defects or hazards of which Colliers becomes aware in the course of our investigations. Any matters that Colliers considers material to the valuation will be referred to in the report.

12.2 Ground conditions and environmental risks

Unless provided with information to the contrary, the valuation will assume that:

- the site is physically capable of development or redevelopment, when appropriate, and that no special or unusual costs will be incurred in providing foundations and infrastructure;
- there are no archaeological remains on or under the land which could adversely impact on value;
- the Subject Property is not adversely affected by any form of pollution or contamination; and
- there is no abnormal risk of flooding.

Colliers will, however, comment on any factors discovered during the course of our valuation enquiries that could affect the market perception of risks caused by these factors.

12.3 Title and Tenancies

Colliers will rely upon information provided by the Client or the Client's representative relating to title, boundaries and related matters. Colliers will not commission a formal legal search and will assume the information provided to be accurate, up-to-date and complete.

12.4 Tenant Covenant Status

Although Colliers reflects the general understanding of a tenant's status in the valuation, Colliers will make no detailed enquiries about the financial status of tenants. Colliers will assume that appropriate enquiries were made when leases were originally exchanged, or when consent was granted to any assignment or subletting.

12.5 Planning and Highway Enquiries

Colliers may make informal enquiries about the local planning and highway authorities and rely on information that is publicly published or available free of charge. Any information obtained will be assumed to be correct. No local searches will be instigated. Except where stated to the contrary, Colliers will assume that there are no local authority planning or highway proposals that might involve the use of compulsory purchase powers or otherwise directly affect the Subject Property.

12.6 Floor Areas and Age

Colliers will not undertake a measurement exercise of the Subject Property.

Colliers will rely upon the schedule of floor areas provided by the Client as being true and accurate in determining the opinion of value. If the Client does not provide Colliers with a schedule of floor areas, survey, Colliers will estimate the building and / or lettable areas from secondary sources.

Where the age of a building is estimated, this is for guidance only.

12.7 Plant and Equipment

Colliers will include in the valuations those items of plant and equipment normally considered to be part of the service installations to a building, and which would normally pass with the Subject Property on a sale or letting. Colliers will exclude all items of process plant and machinery and equipment, together with their special foundations and supports, furniture and furnishings, vehicles, stock and loose tools, and tenants' fixtures and fittings.

12.8 Disposal Costs and Liabilities

No allowance will be made for expenses of realisation or for taxation which may arise in the event of a disposal. Mortgages and similar charges are disregarded.

12.9 Reinstatement Assessments

Colliers will not provide a reinstatement assessment for insurance purposes. Should this service be required, it will be an additional service.

13. Restrictions on Use, Distribution or Publication

In line with customary practice, as a protection against the possibility of a member of the public being misled by a valuation taken out of context, Colliers is obliged to state that the reports are confidential to the party and neither all or part of the reports may be used, reproduced, copied, quoted, published or distributed to any third party without Colliers' prior written consent.

14. Compliance with Professional Valuation Standards

Colliers confirms that the valuation will be conducted in accordance with RICS Standards.

15. Deliverables – Valuation Report(s)

Valuation report(s) will contain the minimum contents required under the RICS Standards and, inter alia, the following (as appropriate): (a) location description; (b) Subject Property description; (c) assumptions and caveats; (d) photographs and location plans; and (e) where possible, details of market comparable transactions / anecdotal market comparable transactions.

The reports will be delivered in English, and the currency adopted is United Arab Emirates Dirhams (AED). Colliers will provide two copies of the valuation reports in hard copy format. Please note that delivery of any reports is subject to prior settlement of any outstanding fees owed to Colliers for any previous exercises undertaken.

16. Professional Fee

Colliers professional fee is not contingent upon any aspect of any report produced.

All fees and disbursements quoted are excluding taxes. The Client is solely responsible for any taxes, including withholding tax and VAT (as applicable), exchange rate fluctuations, commissions, bank charges or other related charges in respect of the fees and disbursements payable to Colliers. No deduction may be made to the fees and the payment of any taxes, if applicable, must be made by the Client directly to the relevant authorities.

Colliers professional fee for undertaking the valuation exercise, in accordance with the scope of work detailed in the Engagement.

17. Timeframe

Colliers endeavours to complete and deliver the valuation report no later than timeframe stated in the Engagement from the date of signing the confirmation of instructions and subject to receiving all supporting documentation set out in clause 11 and payment of initial/commencement fee by the Client.

Report delivery is subject to Colliers being granted timely internal access during all of the delivery phase to all of the subject properties (during normal daylight working hours).

This timeframe is subject to receipt of complete supporting information as requested above, prior to commencing work. Should any further information be required at the commencement of work, Colliers endeavours to inform the Client as early as possible such that the timeframes indicated above are observed.

18. Complaints Handling Procedure

In the event that a complaint should arise, Colliers confirms that Colliers has complaints handling procedure, a copy of which will be provided on request.

19. RICS Conduct and Disciplinary Regulations

Colliers' compliance with the RICS Standards may be subject to monitoring under the RICS' conduct and disciplinary regulations.

20. Legal Requirements and Reporting

Colliers may be required, under the laws of the United Arab Emirates and applicable laws of each of the Emirates, to provide to RERA, Abu Dhabi Municipality or other municipality and/or authority having jurisdiction (collectively referred to as the "Authorities") information in respect of valuations undertaken within an Emirate. The Authorities have the authority to determine the format of the required information. Currently, the Authorities are requiring the following details: (a) Client details; name, contact, individual/company; (b) Subject Property details: building name, developer, location, type, tenure, area/size sqft, area/size sqm, ownership; (c) Valuation: method of valuation, status of valuer (internal / external), value, date of valuation, valuation, type (empty plot, flat, villa, whole building, other, please specify), purpose of valuation (mortgage, sale, other, please specify); (d) assumptions and comments.

By instructing Colliers to undertake a valuation, the Client unconditionally accepts and provides their explicit acceptance of the release of the above information to the Authorities, and any disclosure of the details above are not considered a breach of confidentiality obligations under any agreement between the Client and Colliers.

21. The Client's Obligations

The Client agrees to pay the fees for the Services carried out in accordance with the Engagement.

The Client is responsible for the timed provision of all information and cooperation reasonably, including that from third parties engaged directly by the Client, required by Colliers to assist in the performance of the Services. Colliers has no liability for the consequences, including delay in or failure to provide the Services, of any failure by the Client or any third party promptly to provide information or other material reasonably requested, or where that material is inaccurate or incomplete, or to follow Colliers' advice or recommendations.

The Client agrees not to make available to any third party or reproduce the whole or any part of the report, nor refer to it, in any publication without Colliers prior written approval of the form and context in which such disclosure may be made.

The Client represents and warrants that it is authorised under the laws and regulations of the United Arab Emirates to appoint Colliers to undertake the valuation in respect of the Subject Property and is able to confirm this is in writing, if requested by Colliers. Any breach of this representation and warranty is considered a material breach of this Engagement by the Client and Colliers may terminate this Engagement immediately without a notice and invoice the Client pro rata for any work undertaken up to the date of termination along with expenses incurred due to early termination.

22. Scope of Services

22.1 It may be necessary as part of the Services to instruct specialist consultants on the Client's behalf. Colliers will not do so prior to obtaining the Client's authority.

22.2 Estimates, valuations and financial model:

a) Any market projections incorporated within the Services including but not limited to, income, expenditure, associated growth rates, interest rates, incentives, yields and costs are projections and may prove to be inaccurate. Accordingly, such market projections should be interpreted as an indicative assessment of potentialities only, as opposed to certainties.

b) Where Colliers is instructed to carry out valuations, such valuations will be based on information reasonably available to Colliers at the time of undertaking the valuation and Colliers' expertise and knowledge of the market. The Client understands and agrees that the valuations will be prepared in accordance with the Engagement and that market conditions and assumptions may change over time.

c) Colliers has no obligation to share with the Client its models used for cash flow and valuation.

23. Assignment and subcontracting

23.1 The Engagement may not be assigned, novated, transferred or otherwise disposed of by the Client without the prior written consent of Colliers.

23.2 Colliers may be required to subcontract all or part of the Services to another legal entity operating under the brand of Colliers anywhere in the world without the consent of the Client.

24. Termination of instructions

24.1 Colliers may terminate the Engagement immediately by notice in writing:

a) whereas a result of circumstances outside the control of both of the parties, the Services become impossible to perform; or

b) where the Client has rendered the Services impossible of performance; or

c) the Client has provided incorrect information to Colliers, which Colliers has relied upon; or

d) if the Client has not made payment by the due date of any sum payable to Colliers; or

e) at any time in the event that the Client is in material breach of its obligations.

24.2 In the event that the Client instructs Colliers and thereafter the transaction or instruction becomes abortive because of a justified reason not directly related to Colliers (acceptance of the termination is at the discretion of Colliers) and the Client withdraws or terminates Colliers' instructions, Colliers is entitled to a higher of: (a) fifty percent (50%) of the total fee that Colliers would have received under this Agreement had the matter proceeded to completion; or (b) the portion of the fee charged pro rata according to Colliers hourly rate for the services performed up to the date of termination. Whether the transaction or instruction concludes or not, the disbursements and expenses will be payable by the Client in any event.

25. Intellectual Property

25.1 The documents that the Client has provided to Colliers for provision of Services belong to the Client.

25.2 The report that Colliers prepares for the Client belongs to the Client, save that Colliers retains the pre-existing intellectual property rights in its logo, trade name, databases, methodology and market data which Colliers has collected over the years and which may be used in the compilation of the report for the Client and which for the practical reasons cannot be alienated from the report.

25.3 The fees which the Client pays for the Services, entitle the Client to use the report for the purpose for which it was prepared for as set out in the Engagement, however, neither Colliers' report, documents or other material nor any of its parts may be quoted, published, amended, modified or distributed to third parties without Colliers' prior written consent.

26. Confidential Information

26.1 The term "Confidential Information" means all information, disclosures or communications of whatsoever nature (whether oral, written, physical, visual or maintained in any electronic or computerized format) which is confidential or proprietary to the party, whether or not marked as confidential or owned or developed by the party disclosing the same. Confidential Information includes (without limitation) reports, trade secrets, technical information, products, inventions, product design information, pricing structure, clients, suppliers, costs, copyrights and other intellectual property, and other proprietary information.

26.2 The parties understand and acknowledge that the Confidential Information has been developed or obtained by the other party by the investment of significant time, effort and expense, and that the Confidential Information is a valuable, special and unique asset of each party which provides that party with a significant competitive advantage. Therefore, the parties mutually agree to hold in confidence and not to disclose the Confidential Information of the other party to any person or entity without the prior written consent of the other party, save for information which requires disclosure for legal and regulatory compliance purposes. The parties' obligation to protect Confidential Information is for a period of twelve (12) months from the date of this Engagement or as otherwise mutually agreed between the parties in writing.

26.3 If it appears that a party has disclosed (or has threatened to disclose) Confidential Information of the other party in violation of the Engagement, the party providing the information is entitled to an injunctive relief of special performance to restrain the party receiving the information from disclosing, in whole or in part, the Confidential Information. The above does not limit the party's right to claim damages in case of an actual breach.

26.4 The Client agrees that any of Colliers software programs to which the Client may have access, contain valuable Confidential Information and the Client will not modify, reverse engineer, decompile, create other works from, or disassemble any simulation models, reports or software programs contained in the Confidential Information without Colliers prior written consent.

27. Papers

27.1 After completing the Services, Colliers is entitled to keep all and any of the Client's papers, documents and reports until Colliers' fees and disbursements are paid in full.

27.2 Colliers generally retains the Client papers and documents relating to the Services for the minimum number of years as set out in the applicable law and RICS Standards and the Client hereby agrees that Colliers may destroy papers and/or documents relating to the Services once this period has expired (calculated from the date of the final invoice).

28. Data Protection

28.1 Should the Client provide any personal information to Colliers in relation to the provision of Services, the Client represents and warrants that it has the appropriate approvals and consents for such collection, processing and transfer of personal data. Except for any disclosure required by any authorities and to perform the Services, Colliers will not disclose to any third party any personal data without the Client's express authority to do so.

28.2 Notwithstanding the above, Colliers may wish to disclose that Colliers has done work for the Client and unless the Client objects to this in writing, the Client hereby grant Colliers a right to use the Client's company's name, logo and publicly available photo/picture of the project for marketing purposes and/or advertising Colliers services now or in the future.

29. General

29.1 Colliers does not provide any legal advice. Should the Client require legal advice, the Client should seek independent legal advice. Colliers bears no responsibility for the content of any legal advice that is obtained.

29.2 For legal and financial compliance and anti-money laundering purposes, Colliers may request that the Client provide to Colliers' documentary proof of identity, legal entity corporate documents, proof of address, proof of the powers of the authorised signatory and/or proof of funding in relation to a particular transaction or instruction. The Client agrees to comply with any such requests promptly.

29.3 This Engagement has been prepared and agreed in the English language and all documents delivered thereunder or in connection therewith, including without limitation all correspondence, specifications, notices, deliverables, reports and other documents submitted to the Client or to Colliers, must also be in the English language. In the event of any translation of this Engagement or any part thereof or of any such documents as aforesaid into Arabic or any other language, the same will continue to be construed and interpreted according to the English language version which will (to the extent allowed by law) therefore prevail in the event of any conflict. If, notwithstanding the foregoing, any competent court should hold that any such Arabic or other translation will prevail over the relevant English language version, that English language version must be referred to in order to assist in the interpretation of the Arabic or other translation.

29.4 Should the Client require any of the documents prepared or issued by Colliers to be translated into another language, the timeframe for preparation of such translations, is not included in the timeframe for submission of deliverables and the translations prepared by external translation companies will be at the cost of the Client. Colliers is not responsible or liable for any inaccuracies in the translations prepared by external translation companies. Any documents that the Client provides to Colliers must be in English language or accompanied by a certified legal translation.

29.5 The laws of the Emirate of Abu Dhabi, United Arab Emirates apply in every respect in relation to Colliers' Services. In the event of any dispute arising out of or in connection with this Engagement, the parties agree to submit to the exclusive jurisdiction of the courts of Abu Dhabi, United Arab Emirates.

APPENDIX 2 – GENERAL ASSUMPTIONS

These are the conditions and Assumptions upon which our valuations and reports are normally prepared and form an integral part of our appointment together with our related Terms of Engagement and Terms and Conditions. These conditions and Assumptions apply to the valuation(s) that will be the subject of this instruction. We shall make certain Assumptions in relation to facts, conditions or situations affecting the subject of, or approach to, our valuations that we will not verify as part of the valuation process but rather, as per the Glossary to the RICS Valuation Standards (Red Book), will treat as "a supposition taken to be true". In the event that any of these Assumptions prove to be incorrect then our valuation(s) will need to be reviewed.

1. BASIS (BASES) OF VALUATION

The property has been valued on the basis/bases set out in Section 2 of this Valuation Report and defined below under "Basis of Value".

TITLE

We will not have access to the title deeds of the properties, other than what is provided. Unless specifically advised to the contrary by you or your legal adviser, we shall make the Assumption that titles are good and marketable and are free from rights of way or easements, restrictive covenants, disputes or onerous or unusual outgoings. We shall also make the Assumption that the properties are free from mortgages, charges or other encumbrances.

Where Certificates of Title (e.g. Title Deeds / Affection Plans / Ground Leases / Site Plans) are available, we will reflect their contents in our valuations. Save as disclosed either in any such Certificates of Title or as referred to in our Report, we will make the Assumption that there are good and marketable titles and that the properties are free from rights of way or easements, restrictive covenants, disputes or onerous or unusual outgoings. We will also make the Assumption that the properties are free from mortgages, charges or other encumbrances.

Where a Valuation Report is required to contain site plans these will be based on extracts of the Ordnance Survey or other maps showing, for identification purposes only, our understanding of the extent of title based on site inspections or copy title plans supplied to us. If verification of the accuracy of these plans is required, the matter must be referred by you to your solicitors.

CONDITION OF STRUCTURE AND SERVICES, DELETERIOUS MATERIALS

Due regard will be paid to the apparent state of repair and condition of the property, but a condition survey will not be undertaken. We will make no comment about the woodwork or other parts of the structure which are covered, unexposed or inaccessible, been inspected. Therefore, we will be unable to report that the property is structurally sound or is free from any defects. We will make an Assumption that the property is free from any rot, infestation, adverse toxic chemical treatments, and structural or design defects other than such as may be mentioned in the body of our Valuation Report.

COLLIERS will not arrange investigations to be made to determine whether high alumina cement concrete, calcium chloride additive or any other deleterious materials have been used in the construction or any alterations, and therefore we will not be able to confirm that the property is free from risk in this regard. For the purposes of this valuation, we will make an Assumption that any such investigation would not reveal the presence of such materials in any adverse condition.

No mining, geological or other investigations will be undertaken to certify that the site(s) is/are free from any defect as to foundations. We will make and Assumption that the load bearing qualities of the site of the property are sufficient to support the building(s) constructed thereon. We will also make an Assumption that there are no services on or crossing the site in a position which would inhibit development or make it unduly expensive and that there are no abnormal ground conditions, nor archaeological remains present, which might adversely affect the present or future occupation, development or value of the property.

No tests will be carried out as to electrical, electronic, heating, plant and machinery, equipment or any other services nor have the drains been tested. However, we will make an Assumption that all services, including gas, water, electricity and sewerage, drainage are provided and are functioning satisfactorily.

It is the condition of COLLIERS that the Client and/or third parties (whether notified to us or not) accept that the Valuation Report will in no way relate to, or gives warrant to, the condition of the structure, foundations, soil and services.

PLANT AND MACHINERY

No allowance will be made in the valuation for any items of plant or machinery not forming part of the service installations of the building. We will specifically exclude all items of plant, machinery and equipment installed wholly or primarily in connection with the occupants' businesses. We will also exclude furniture and furnishings, fixtures, fittings, vehicles, stock and loose tools.

GOODWILL

No account will be taken in our valuation of any business goodwill that may arise from the present occupation of the property.

FLOOR AREAS AND INSPECTIONS

We will review the property(s) in accordance with the Terms of Engagement, which may include internal property inspections. However, we will apply floor areas provided by the Client. We shall make an Assumption that these areas have been measured in accordance with local measuring practices.

ENVIRONMENTAL MATTERS INCLUDING FLOODING

We will adopt an Assumption that if investigations were made to an appropriate extent, then nothing would be discovered sufficient to affect value. We will not complete investigations into past uses, either of the property or any adjacent lands, to establish whether there is any potential for contamination from such uses or sites. Commensurate with our Assumptions set out above we will not make any allowance in the valuation for any effect in respect of actual or potential contamination of land.

In practice, purchasers in the property market do not make such an assumption about contamination and a purchaser of the property may require appropriate investigations to be made to assess any risk before completing a transaction.

We have no basis upon which to assess the reasonableness of this Assumption. If it were to prove invalid, then the value would fall by an unspecified amount.

If the property lies within an area prone to tidal floods, or has a history of flooding, we have made an Assumption that building insurance is in place regarding flooding and available to be renewed by the current or any subsequent owner of the property, without payment of an excessive premium or excess.

STATUTORY REQUIREMENTS AND PLANNING

For the purpose of this Valuation Report we may adopt an assumption that all planning permissions are in place for the development of the existing facility, adhering to all zoning regulations for upon the property. If further investigations reveal variances to the zoning as assumed, we reserve the right of comment or re-appraisal.

We stress that no planning enquiries have been made to this effect, and this should not be relied upon without further investigation.

Unless otherwise advised, and unless otherwise referred to in this Valuation Report we have made the Assumption that the buildings forming the educational facility have been constructed in full compliance with valid town planning and building regulations approvals and that where necessary have the benefit of current Fire Risk Assessments compliant with the requirements of the Regulatory Reform (Fire Safety) Order 2005. Similarly, we have also made the Assumption that the property is not subject to any outstanding statutory notices as to construction, use or occupation and that the existing use is duly authorised or established and that no adverse planning conditions or restrictions apply.

In instances where we have valued a property with the benefit of a recently granted planning consent or on the Special Assumption that planning consent is granted, we have made an assumption that it will not be challenged under legal Review.

If a planning consent is subject to Review, we must be informed and asked to reconsider our opinion of value. Advice would be required from your lawyer to obtain their opinion of the potential outcomes of such a Review, which we will reflect in our reconsideration of value.

HIGHWAYS

From our knowledge of the area, we are not aware of any proposed road schemes which might adversely affect the property.

LEASING

We will read all the leases and related documents provided to us. We will make an Assumption that copies of all relevant documents will be sent to us and that they are complete and up to date.

We will not undertake investigations into the financial strength of any tenants. Unless we have become aware by general knowledge, or we have been specifically advised to the contrary, we will make an Assumption that:

Where properties are occupied under leases then the tenants are financially in a position to meet their obligations, and there are no material arrears of rent or service charges, breaches of covenant, current or anticipated tenant disputes.

However, our valuations will reflect the market's general perception of the credit worthiness of the type of tenants in occupation or responsible for meeting lease commitments, or likely to be in occupation.

We will also make an Assumption that wherever rent reviews or lease renewals are pending or impending, with anticipated reversionary reviews, all notices have been served validly within the appropriate time limits.

LEGAL ISSUES

Legal issues, and in particular the interpretation of matters relating to title and leases, may have a significant bearing on the value of an interest in property. No responsibility or liability will be accepted for the true interpretation of the legal position of our client or other parties. Where we express an opinion upon legal issues affecting the valuation, then such opinion should be subject to verification by the Client with a suitable qualified lawyer. In these circumstances, we accept no responsibility or liability for the true interpretation of the legal position of the Client or other parties in respect of the valuation of the property and our Valuation Report will include a statement to this effect.

INFORMATION

We will assume that the information provided in respect of the property/properties will be both full and correct. We will make an Assumption that details of all matters relevant to value within your collective knowledge, such as prospective building areas, land areas, zonings legislation and planning decisions, will be made available to us, and that such information is up to date.

DEDUCTION OF NOTIONAL PURCHASER'S COSTS

The Market Value / Fair Value / Investment Value – Calculation of Worth which will be attributed to the property is the figure that we consider would appear in a contract for sale, subject to the appropriate assumptions for this Basis of Value. No allowance will be made in respect of transfer fees and purchaser's costs, unless otherwise stated. For the avoidance of doubt the reported Value will be gross of these costs.

TAXATION

No adjustment will be made to reflect any liability for taxation that may arise on disposal, nor for any costs associated with disposal incurred by the owner. Furthermore, no allowance will be made to reflect any liability to repay any government or other grants, taxation allowance or funding that may arise on disposal, unless specifically stated otherwise.

PROPERTIES IN THE COURSE OF DEVELOPMENT OR REQUIRING REFURBISHMENT

Unless otherwise referred to in the Valuation Report, we will rely upon information relating to construction and associated costs in respect of construction costs and date of completion, as advised by the owner of the property or their professional advisers.

Unless otherwise referred to in the Valuation Report, we will assume all construction works have been satisfactorily carried out in accordance with the building contract and specifications, current local standards and any relevant codes of practice. We assume that a duty of care and all appropriate warranties have been made available by the professional team and contractors, which will be assignable to third parties.

APPENDIX 3 – BASIS / BASES OF VALUATION

MARKET VALUE

Market Value as defined in Practice Statement 3.2 of the RICS Valuation Standards ("the Red Book") and applying the conceptual framework which has been settled by the International Valuation Standards Committee (IVSC). Under PS 3.2, the term "Market Value" means "The estimated amount for which a property should exchange on the date of valuation between a willing buyer and a willing seller in an arm's-length transaction after proper marketing wherein the parties had each acted knowledgeably, prudently and without compulsion."

The conceptual framework settled by the IVSC is included in PS 3.2 and is reproduced below:-

"3.2 The term property is used because the focus of these Standards is the valuation of property. Because these Standards encompass financial reporting, the term Asset may be substituted for general application of the definition. Each element of the definition has its own conceptual framework.

3.2.1 'The estimated amount ...' Refers to a price expressed in terms of money (normally in the local currency) payable for the property in an arm's-length market transaction. Market Value is measured as the most probable price reasonably obtainable in the market at the date of valuation in keeping with the Market Value definition. It is the best price reasonably obtainable by the seller and the most advantageous price reasonably obtainable by the buyer. This estimate specifically excludes an estimated price inflated or deflated by special terms or circumstances such as atypical financing, sale and leaseback arrangements, special considerations or concessions granted by anyone associated with the sale, or any element of Special Value.

3.2.2 '... a property should exchange ...' Refers to the fact that the value of an asset is an estimated amount rather than a predetermined or actual sale price. It is the price at which the market expects a transaction that meets all other elements of the Market Value definition should be completed on the date of valuation.

3.2.3 '... on the date of valuation ...' Requires that the estimated Market Value is time specific as of a given date. As markets and market conditions may change, the estimated value may be incorrect or inappropriate at another time. The valuation amount will reflect the actual market state and circumstances as of the effective valuation date, not as of either a past or future date. The definition also assumes simultaneous exchange and completion of the contract for sale without any variation in price that might otherwise be made.

3.2.4 '... between a willing buyer ...' Refers to one who is motivated, but not compelled to buy. This buyer is neither over-eager nor determined to buy at any price. This buyer is also one who purchases in accordance with the realities of the current market and with current market expectations, rather than in an imaginary or hypothetical market which cannot be demonstrated or anticipated to exist. The assumed buyer would not pay a higher price than the market requires. The present property owner is included among those who constitute 'the market'. A valuer must not make unrealistic assumptions about market conditions or assume a level of Market Value above that which is reasonably obtainable.

3.2.5 '... a willing seller ...' Is neither an over-eager nor a forced seller prepared to sell at any price, nor one prepared to hold out for a price not considered reasonable in the current market. The willing seller is motivated to sell the property at market terms for the best price attainable in the (open) market after proper marketing, whatever that price may be. The factual circumstances of the actual property owner are not a part of this consideration because the 'willing seller' is a hypothetical owner.

3.2.6 '... in an arm's-length transaction ...' Is one between parties who do not have a particular or special relationship (for example, parent and subsidiary companies or landlord and tenant) which may make the price level uncharacteristic of the market or inflated because of an element of Special Value, (defined in IVSC Standard 2, para. 3.11). The Market Value transaction is presumed to be between unrelated parties, each acting independently.

3.2.7 '... after proper marketing ...' Means that the property would be exposed to the market in the most appropriate manner to affect its disposal at the best price reasonably obtainable in accordance with the Market Value definition. The length of exposure time may vary with market conditions but must be sufficient to allow the property to be brought to the attention of an adequate number of potential purchasers. The exposure period occurs prior to the valuation date.

3.2.8 '... wherein the parties had each acted knowledgeably, prudently ...' Presumes that both the willing buyer and the willing seller are reasonably informed about the nature and characteristics of the property, its actual and potential uses, and the state of the market as of the date of valuation. Each is further presumed to act for self-interest with that knowledge and prudently to seek the best price for their respective positions in the transaction. Prudence is assessed by referring to the state of the market at the date of valuation, not with benefit of hindsight at some later date. It is not necessarily imprudent for a seller to sell property in a market with falling prices at a price which is lower than previous market levels. In such cases, as is true for other purchase and sale situations in markets with changing prices, the prudent buyer or seller will act in accordance with the best market information available at the time.

3.2.9 '... and without compulsion' Establishes that each party is motivated to undertake the transaction, but neither is forced or unduly coerced to complete it.

3.3 Market Value is understood as the value of a property estimated without regard to costs of sale or purchase and without offset of any associated taxes."

MARKET RENT

Market Rent as defined in Practice Statement 3.3 of the Red Book. Under PS 3.3 the term "Market Rent" means 'The estimated amount for which a property, or space within a property, should lease (let) on the date of valuation between a willing lessor and a willing lessee on appropriate lease terms in an arm's-length transaction after proper marketing wherein the parties had acted knowledgeably, prudently and without compulsion.'

The commentary from the Red Book is reproduced below.

"1. The definition of Market Rent is the Market Value (MV) definition modified by the substitution of a willing lessor and willing lessee for a willing buyer and willing seller, and an additional Assumption that the letting will be on 'appropriate lease terms'. This definition must be applied in accordance with the interpretive commentary of MV at PS3.2, together with the following supplementary commentary:

1.1 '...willing lessor and willing lessee...'

The change in the description of the parties simply reflects the nature of the transaction. The willing lessor is possessed with the same characteristics as the willing seller, and the willing lessee with the same characteristics as the willing buyer, save that the word 'price' in the interpretive commentary to MV should be changed to 'rent', the word 'sell' changed to 'let' and the word 'buy' changed to 'lease'.

1.2 '...appropriate lease terms...'

MR will vary significantly according to the terms of the assumed lease contract. The appropriate lease terms will normally reflect current practice in the market in which the property is situated, although for certain purposes unusual terms may need to be stipulated. Matters such as the duration of the lease, the frequency of rent reviews, and the responsibilities of the parties for maintenance and outgoings, will all impact on MR. In certain States, statutory factors may either restrict the terms that may be agreed or influence the impact of terms in the contract. These need to be taken into account where appropriate. Valuers must therefore take care to set out clearly the principal lease terms that are assumed when providing MR.

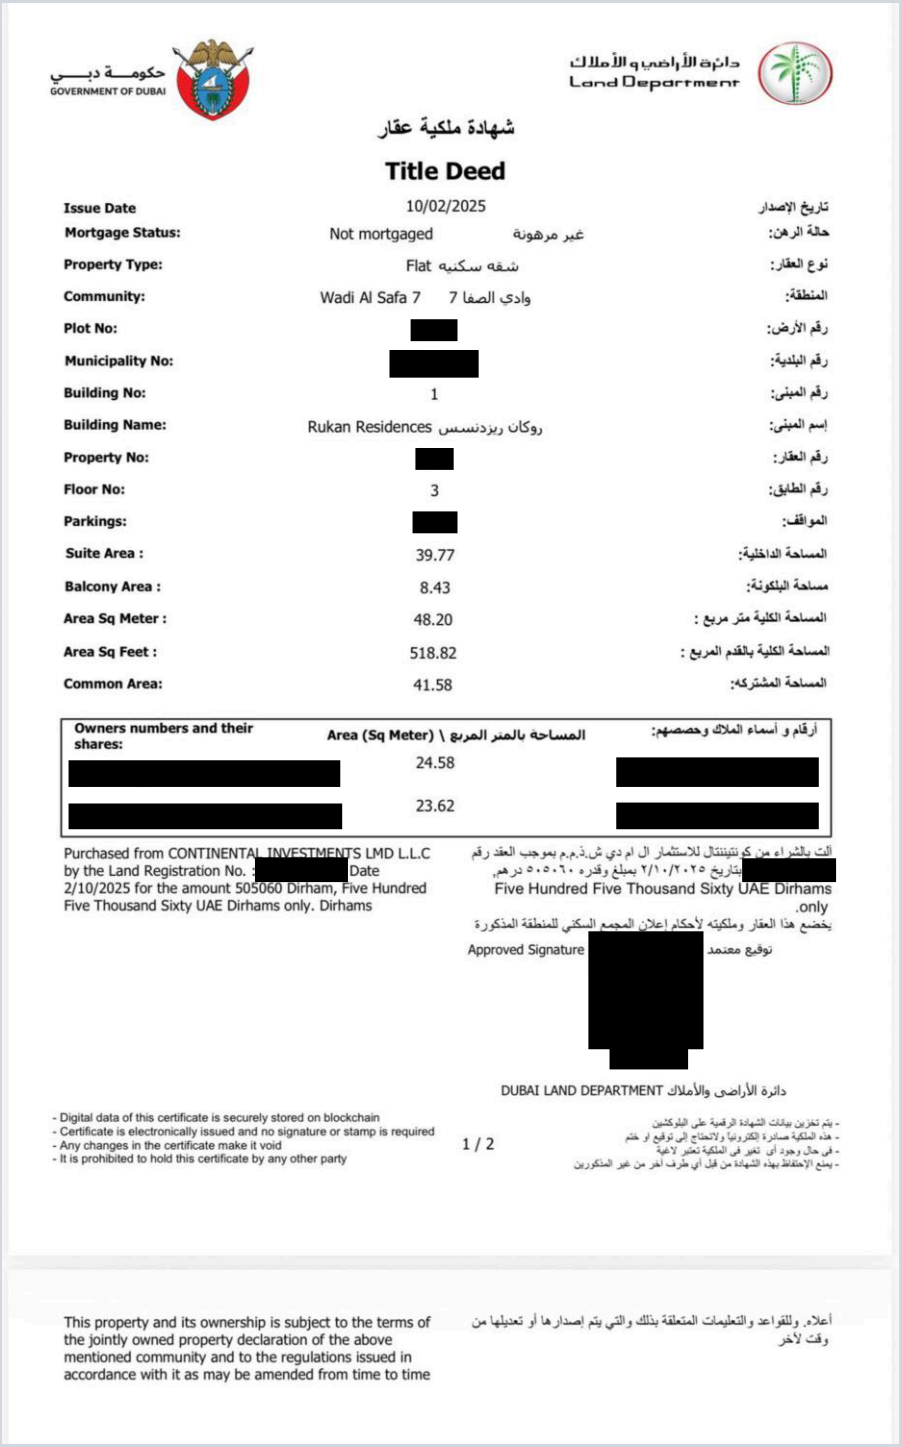

If it is the market norm for lettings to include a payment or concession by one party to the other as an incentive to enter a lease, and this is reflected in the general level of rents agreed, the MR should also be expressed on this basis. The nature of the incentive assumed must be stated by the valuer, along with the assumed lease terms.

MR will normally be used to indicate the amount for which a vacant property may be let, or for which a let property may re-let when the existing lease terminates. Market Rent is not a suitable basis for settling the amount of rent payable under a rent review provision in a lease, where the actual definitions and Assumptions have to be used."

EXISTING USE VALUE

Existing Use, the term "Existing Use Value" is defined as follows:- " The estimated amount for which a property should exchange on the date of valuation between a willing buyer and a willing seller in an arm's length transaction, after proper marketing wherein the parties had acted knowledgeably, prudently and without compulsion, assuming that the buyer is granted vacant possession of all parts of the property required by the business and disregarding potential alternative uses and any other characteristics of the property that would cause its Market Value to differ from that needed to replace the remaining service potential at least cost".
